

SOME OF THE DEAD. Bodies of victims lying on the sidewalk in front of the New York Subtreasury Building. Soldiers, marines and civilians are assisting the police to keep the crowd back.

TROOPS ON GUARD. Soldiers were ordered from Governors Island to do guard duty at the scene of yesterday's explosion in the financial district of New York city.

CARING FOR INJURED MAN. One of the civilian volunteers is seeing that the injured man gets to his home in safety. Volunteers were plentiful.

VACATION IS OVER. Miss Mae Murray, spending her last minutes on the S. S. Olympia, as she returns from Europe, following a long vacation.

HERE ON A VISIT. Two sisters, the Misses Hattie and Betty Swanson, well known to patrons of England's variety houses, will spend several months in this country.

GOVERNOR AND WIFE VOTE. Governor Smith, of New York, and his wife, at a polling place in Henry street, New York, during the primary election. Mrs. Smith is about to drop her ballot in the box. Several of their neighbors were at hand.

WORLD'S ONLY ARMLESS AVIATOR. He is L. C. Thornton, of Fresno, California. He operates the throttle with his left shoulder and the stick with a hook.

DR. CARL E. GRAMMER discusses enforcement of prohibition in an interview on the editorial page.

CAMERA SHY. A staff photographer of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER made an effort to have the ostrich at the Zoo pose yesterday. The result is shown.

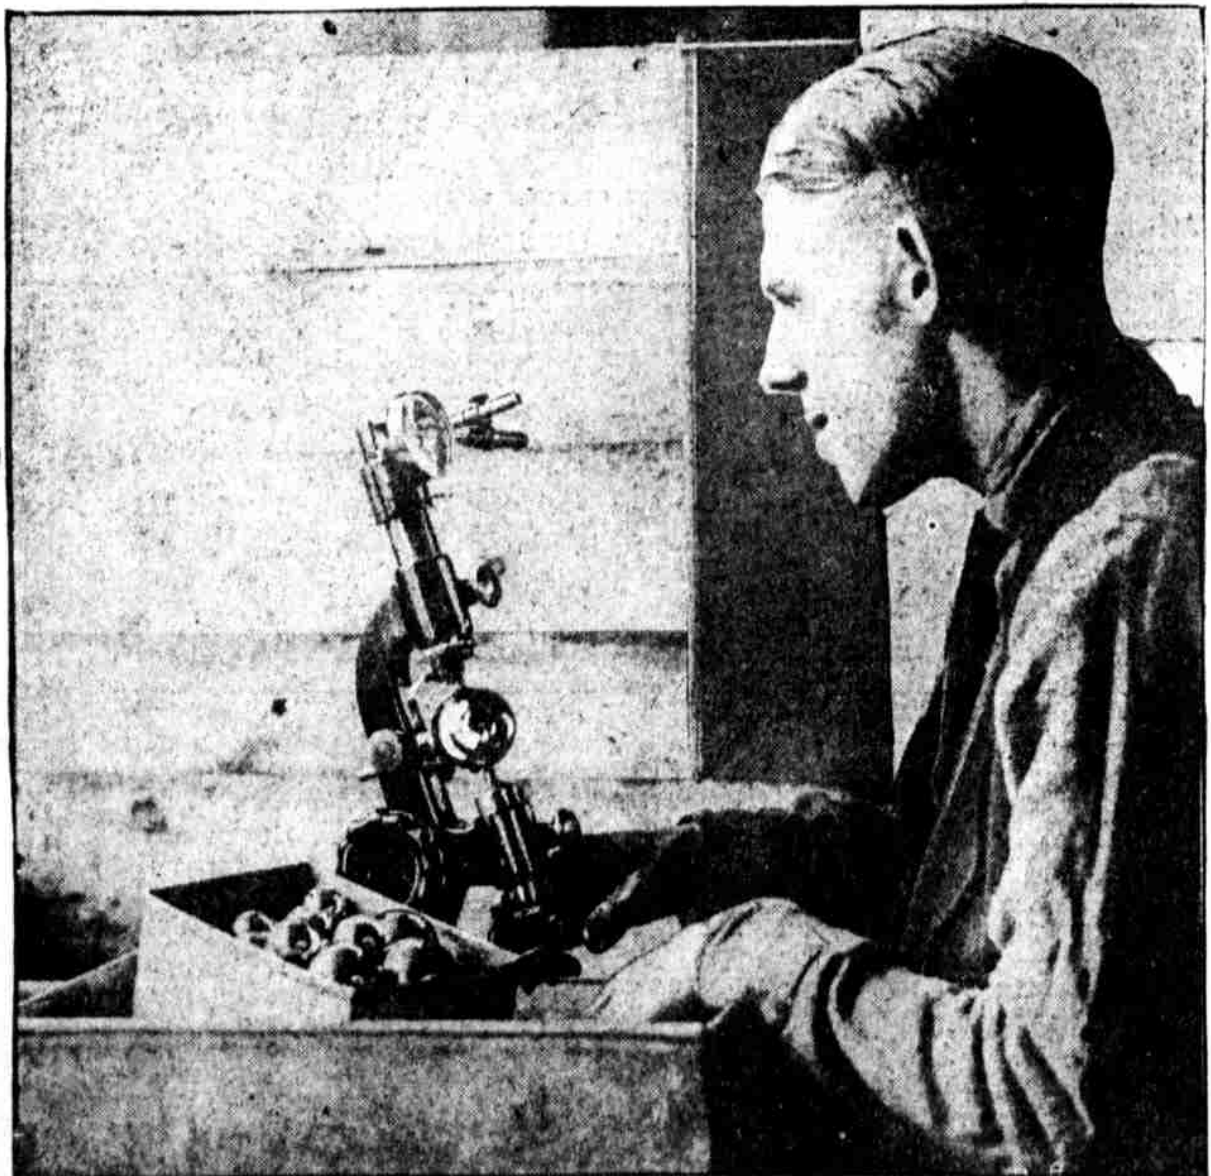

THE SECRETARY. Harry B. Schall, of the Allentown fair organization, who is a busy man these days arranging for the event, which will be held next week.

TOUGH TO JUST WATCH. This is the painful duty imposed on Mrs. Gilbert A. Harvey, a local tennis expert. An injury sustained some time ago keeps her out of the national women's tennis tournament, now going on at St. Martins.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

MINIMETER READING of new steel balls. The work is being done by William Welsh, 824 Mercer street, at the Atlas Ball Co., North American street and Glenwood avenue. This machine makes the final test for correct measurement.

DIGGING THEM OUT. The close of the straw hat season for 1920 caused many of the well-worn straw hats to reach the scrap barrel. Boys in South Philadelphia got a few good ones yesterday by diligent search.

THERE GOES ANOTHER ONE. While September seems to be just the right time to wear straw hats, many of them are receiving rough treatment. Jim Ramsey is breaking one on William Deacey's head, at Nineteenth and Wharton streets.

MISS CATHERINE FLANAGAN, of Hartford, Conn., entering the State Department, with Connecticut's certificate of suffrage ratification.

MISS RUTH M. ENDERLE 4539 Lancaster avenue, Philadelphia.

THE BEAUTY CORNER